

Fixed-Rate

The disadvantage of a fixed rate mortgage is that if interest rates drop you'll be tied into your set higher rate until the end of the agreed period. So you won't see any decrease in your monthly repayments. At the end of the two- to five-year term borrowers will typically be converted to the standard variable rate.